

88 LIVES ARE LOST IN OHIO TORNADO MCADOO LEADING ON EARLY BALLOTS; SMITH SECOND

SLIGHT CHANGE IS NOTICED IN STANDINGS OF CANDIDATES AS STATES STICK BY EARLY PLEDGES

Madison Square Garden, New York, June 30.—Five ballots in the Democratic national convention today failed to produce a nominee.

Both William G. McAdoo and Governor Al Smith showed slight gains as the balloting proceeded, but in each case, it was negligible.

McAdoo polled 443 on the fifth ballot, as against 26 for Governor Smith and the rest were still scattered among a dozen men.

Ex-Governor James M. Cox ran third in the race with Senator Oscar Underwood trailing.

John W. Davis and Senator Samuel M. Ralston, the most feared dark horses, were far back.

New York, June 30.—Balloting starting today at the Democratic national convention failed to indicate what the final outcome would be. Results on the early ballots were:

Official totals: McAdoo 431½; Ralston 24½; Smith 26½; Cox 59½; Underwood 43; Bryan 18; J. W. Davis 22; Glass 24; Silzer 30; Brown 12; Ferris 30; Saulsbury 6; Pat Harrison 21½; Robinson 41; Ritchie 21½; Jonathan M. Davis 23; Sweet 12; Kendrick 6; Thomas J. Walsh 1; Huston Thompson 1.

Official result of the third ballot: McAdoo, 437; Smith, 25½; Robinson, 40½; Underwood, 43; Harrison 20½; Jonathan M. Davis, 23; Ritchie 21½; Thomas J. Walsh, 1; Huston Thompson, 1; John W. Davis, 34; Bryan 19; Glass 25; Silzer 28; Brown 9-10; Ferris 30; Saulsbury 9.

Total fifth ballot: McAdoo 443-10; Smith 26½; Robinson 41½; Cox 59; Underwood 43; Harrison 20½; Jonathan M. Davis, 23; Ritchie 21½; Thomas J. Walsh, 1; Huston Thompson, 1; John W. Davis, 34½; Glass, 25½; Silzer, 28½; Saulsbury 6; Ferris, 0; Walsh 1; Thompson 1.

Chairman Walsh, summoned Joseph B. Shannon, of the Missouri delegation, to the platform for a conference on whether Missouri's vote was to be cast under the unit rule.

Missouri Poll shows 25 McAdoo; 3 Davis; 8 Not Voting. The chair will hear Shannon, challenger, as to why vote should not be reported by Missouri chairman.

Shannon was given five minutes to debate his challenge on the unit rule.

"We choose this method of protesting against the unit rule, because it is not an expression of the people of Missouri," said Shannon.

Shannon explained that Reed had four hundred votes in the state convention and McAdoo ninety. A resolution, he said, had been introduced, endorsing McAdoo but it was rejected and then a "trick resolution" was put over to prevent Reed's friends on the delegation from voting for him. Shannon quoted an old argument of Calhoun against the unit rule.

He charged that money had been sent into the state of Missouri to influence the delegation's vote.

Shannon explained that the reason he and his colleagues voted "present" was that they would under no circumstances vote for McAdoo and he thus chose not to be bound by a unit rule.

This voting of "present" would reduce the total vote of the state, he contended, even if the rule was upheld, for even under that rule no one could be compelled to vote.

At Shannon's renewed charge that money had been used, there were hisses and boos from the Missouri delegation. State Senator Ferris of Missouri, was then recognized to answer Shannon's argument.

Walsh ruled that Shannon's protest could not be upheld as it was contrary to precedents and he ordered the entire vote of Missouri cast for McAdoo.

During the balloting Joseph B. Shannon and Charles M. Hay, of the Missouri delegation, almost came to blows. A policeman kept them apart. There were cries of "boo" from the floor and galleries as the individual roll call of the Missouri delegation went on.

Smith made a gain of about ten votes on the second ballot while McAdoo lost half a vote.

The field continued widely scattered among nearly a score of candidates. Both Illinois and Pennsylvania

LEADERS CLAIM EACH CANDIDATE IS ELIMINATED

Plank Vote Indicates Neither Can Be Nominated.

New York, June 30.—Confidence was expressed by supporters of the various candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination as the convention began balloting for the party's standard bearer. Leaders predicted a deadlock.

Prestige of James M. Cox is believed to have suffered through the defeat of the league of nations plank as proposed by Newton D. Baker. It is not believed that the delegates will accept as their candidate so strong a pro-league man as Cox. Baker, earlier suggested as a possible dark horse in the race because of his protagonism for the league of nations, failed in his efforts to arouse enthusiasm for the project.

The vote on the plank proposal, it is believed, had no effect on the relative standing of the candidates, except as it provided a further argument for use by those who are predicting that neither McAdoo nor Smith can be nominated.

According to Permanent Chairman Walsh's announcement, the anti-klan plank received 541 votes, with the active supporters of Governor Smith and many others friendly to him voting for it, while 542 votes were announced as cast against it, largely from the states that are giving their support to McAdoo.

Supporters of Smith declared the total recorded for the proposal showed conclusively the inability of McAdoo to muster the two-thirds necessary for a nomination, and the McAdoo men said the votes cast on the other side meant the elimination of Smith. The managers for the other candidates agreed with both of them.

As a result, the only discernible trend of opinion among the leaders as they weighed the outcome of the fifth session and laid their plans for the battle was a further sifting over of available to which the party can turn if the two men now at the top of the list are both eliminated.

The anti-klan elements of the party expressed their willingness to remain content with their defeat in the platform contest, despite the narrow margin by which it was attained. There was one suggestion that a resolution might be offered interpreting the religious liberty plank adopted as an effect of a condemnation of the klan, but the move had no indication of widespread support.

MISSIONARY FROM AMERICA VICTIM OF CHINESE BANDITS

Peking, China, June 30.—Chinese bandits murdered Douglas Byers, an American missionary station at Kachek, on the Island of Hainan, in the China sea, southwest of Hong Kong, according to advices here today.

American consul Chamberlain is proceeding aboard the U. S. S. Sacramento from Hong Kong to Hainan Island to investigate the killing which took place June 24.

Byers was a member of the Presbyterian mission, North, with headquarters at 156 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Defense's Motion Denied.

Cincinnati, June 30.—Judge Hickman refused to grant a motion by Captain Thomas H. Morrow, former United States district attorney, for a continuance for eight former officials of the American Finance company of Dayton, indicted on the charge of using the mails for a scheme to defraud.

MURDER OF DEPUTY STIRS ALL ITALY.

Despite rigid censorship, it is leaking out that all Italy is in an uproar over the kidnapping of Deputy Giacomo Matteotti, multi-millionaire Socialist, who was slain by members of the Fascist while on his way to Parliament in Rome to expose corruption in the Mussolini Cabinet. The automobile standing before Matteotti's mansion is on the exact spot where the kidnapers bundled him into their car and fled. Commendatore Caesar Rossi, chief of Premier Mussolini's press bureau, is charged with giving orders to have Matteotti killed. Commendatore Filippelli, prominent member of the Fascist, is also under arrest for participation in the murder.

FALL, SINCLAIR AND DOHENY INDICTED BY U. S. GRAND JURY FOR CONSPIRACY

MANY TOWNS FEEL FORCE OF TORNADO IN NORTHERN OHIO

Lorain, June 30.—The casualties and damage done by the tornado as it twisted its way across northern Ohio Saturday night are:

At Lorain: 70 dead, probably several hundred injured, and property damage amounting to between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 inflicted.

At Sandusky: Six dead, probably 100 injured and property damage between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000.

At Cleveland: Seven dead with small property damage.

At Port Clinton: Slight damage, due to heavy rainfall. No casualties.

At Marietta: Three reported dead.

At Akron: One dead; property damage estimated at from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

Near Weymouth: Two children drowned in flooded creek; three washed off bridge in automobile but rescued.

At French Creek: Three dead; 12 houses demolished or badly damaged.

At Youngstown: One dead.

At Bay Village: Apartment house said to have collapsed, burying two.

At Alliance: One hundred isolated in flooded homes, rescued by police.

At Elvira: Virtually no damage.

At Cedar Point: Six cottages blown down; no casualties.

At Vermilion: Small damage from heavy downpour of rain and high winds but no casualties.

Governor Donahey personally visits stricken area.

DONAHEY TO ISSUE APPEAL FOR OHIO CITY SUFFERERS

Lorain, O., June 30.—After twenty-four hours spent in investigating conditions in this stricken city, Governor Donahey left Lorain for Columbus, today, with the avowed intention of issuing an official appeal to the people of Ohio for funds to aid in the rehabilitation of the homes of the needy.

"It has been a long time Ohioans have been called on to aid a sister city in distress," the governor said. "Never before has there been such a worthy call upon the generosity as exists in tornado swept Lorain and vicinity. Downstate Ohio can never realize the terrible catastrophe. It beggars description."

Governor Donahey arrived in the devastated areas at 11 a.m. yesterday.

MANY MISSOURI BANKS FAILING

Jefferson City, Mo., June 30.—Since Jan. 1, 1924, bank failures in Missouri have been numerous. Twenty-five banks under state supervision, with deposits in excess of $9,125,000, closed their doors, an average of one bank a week. In fact, conditions have become so disheartening in certain rural communities, where bank after bank has collapsed, that farmers no longer patronize banks. They carry their money in money belts, or have installed small safes in their farm homes. In a few cases the farmers have become customers of the local Sam's post office savings banks.

"Missouri is over-banked," said Frank C. Mills, state finance commissioner, who is charged with the supervision of state banks.

KIWANIS TO HOLD MEETING TUESDAY

A meeting of the directors of the Kiwanis Club was held Friday evening at the home of Dr. A. M. Patterson North King Street, to wind up the six months business. The regular routine of business was transacted. A meeting will also be held by the club Tuesday evening at the Home-Cummings dining room for the purpose of hearing the report of Dr. Patterson, who was the local delegate at the international convention of the Kiwanis Clubs held in Denver.

Washington, June 30.—Charging conspiracy to defraud the United States in connection with the leasing of naval oil lands in California and Wyoming indictments were returned today by a special federal grand jury, against former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, Harry F. Sinclair and Edward Doheny, multi-millionaire oil magnate and the latter's son, Edward L. Doheny, Jr.

In addition to the conspiracy charges, Fall and Doheny were indicted for bribery, the charge being based on the giving of $10,000 to the secretary of the interior by the oil magnate.

Four indictments were obtained from the grand jury by Owen J. Roberts and Alton Pomerene, the special counsel named by President Coolidge to conduct the oil lease litigation.

Oil lease litigation, following the exhaustive investigation made by the senate public lands under the direction of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat, of Montana.

The indictments charge:

1. Fall and Doheny with conspiracy to defraud the government through the leasing of the Teapot Dome reserve in Wyoming.
2. Fall and Sinclair with conspiracy to defraud the government through the leasing of the Teapot Dome reserve in Wyoming.
3. Fall with accepting a bribe from Doheny.
4. Doheny and his son with offering and giving a bribe to Fall.

MANY HOMELESS IN SANDUSKY; HOUGH COMMANDS TROOPS

Sandusky, O., June 30.—With seven known dead, and 200 to 300 families homeless, 100 injured, and property damage estimated at $1,500,000, Sandusky was taking stock of the greatest disaster in its history.

The water service, put out of commission by the fury of the cyclone, was restored to service late yesterday, and the menace of fire and epidemics removed.

The city, however, was still under strict military law. Ohio guardsmen under the command of Major General Ben W. Hough being in complete charge. Troopers are patrolling the main streets and curiosity seekers were being turned back.

ITALIAN FORCES KILL 179 ARABS

Rome, June 30.—Italian forces attacked Arabs in Tripoli, killing 179, said a dispatch from Cyrenaica today. Italian casualties were three killed, 30 wounded.

Five Persons Hurt.

Youngstown, O., June 30.—Five persons were injured when an automobile upset 20 miles west of here. The victims, residents of Columbus, were Max Drayer, his wife, Mrs. Drayer's mother, Mrs. H. W. Turner, and Mr. Drayer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley H. Drayer.

Postoffice Robbed.

Gallipolis, O., June 30.—Burglars blew a safe in the Guyandotte postoffice in West Virginia, escaping with $500 in money and stamps.

KNOWN DEAD IN LORAIN REACHES 60; LAKE CITY IS UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Other Towns In Path of Giant Twister Begin Rehabilitation Work--Lorain Property Damage $30,000,000--Donahey Takes Charge.

Lorain, June 30.—With 70 bodies recovered, Lorain, dawn today to continue the work of removing the pile of debris that marks part of the State Theater site, where still other bodies are believed to be buried, as a result of the cyclone which struck here late Saturday, injuring hundreds and inflicting a property damage that may reach $25,000,000 or more.

The city was under the strictest of martial law today as the workers donated by two big corporations continued their work. Soldiers with drawn bayonets reminiscent of the days in Flanders patrolled the streets; curiosity seekers were turned back with scant courtesy, or if they were able-bodied men—impressed into the work of cleaning up.

The only passes good for anything were those signed by Brigadier General G. R. McQuigg, in command of the Ohio National Guard on duty here. Just how high the casualty list will be remains unknown today. More than 100 persons have been reported as "missing" by family and friends, in addition to the identified dead, but it was thought that as the work progressed, many of these would be found elsewhere.

Dr. William E. Lower, in charge of Red Cross headquarters, estimated probably dead at 150. In addition to the exploration of the State Theater ruins, the believed tomb of many, East Lorain, on the other side of the river, from the main part of town, remained practically unexplored this morning. Here 150 houses were leveled by the fury of the gale, and it was today that clearing away of the wreckage there would reveal many bodies.

The known casualty list this afternoon was eighty-eight which was expected to be largely increased today as the work of exploring Lorain ruins progressed. The list of seriously injured approximates 600.

Governor A. V. Donahey, who arrived from Columbus late yesterday to determine what should be done in the way of relief, was in conference this morning with city officials, Red Cross directors and military authorities and indicated that he would issue an appeal for personal contributions to the community as well as ask the state to set aside funds for the work of rebuilding. However, the kind heeded did not await an official request. All day yesterday, a constant stream of autos poured into the nearest towns, offering food and money to relieve the homeless and today checks were beginning to arrive from all sections.

Without light or gas, stricken with the great calamity, Lorain's homes were cheerless. Caravans of trucks carrying supplies wended their way over crowded roads to the town yesterday and sandwiches and hot coffee served to the workers and homeless.

Pitiful scenes the improvised morgues, enacted many times yesterday were being re-enacted today, as people sought missing members of their families. In most instances, however they did not find their loved ones, as but two bodies, those of an unidentified man of 60 or more and a man of 25, remained unidentified.

When the ruins, as yet unexplored give up their secrets will the exact extent of the tragedy be revealed.

Seventy five children were in the State Theater when the cyclone, like a giant hand, crushed the building at 5:15 Saturday, according to Manager Walters, who was standing in the lobby as the roof fell down and the walls crashed about him.

The storm had struck thirty minutes earlier at least 1,000 persons would have been killed," Walters said. "There were 1,500, mostly children present at the afternoon performance."

Estimates of the number who met death in the theater building vary greatly. Fire Chief David Hatt, who was in charge of search of the ruins, said twenty-two bodies were removed. More may be buried under tons of debris in the basement and what was the auditorium into which searching parties have been unable to penetrate.

This number, however, will be small, Walters believes. He pointed out that Miss Mary Hirsch, pianist, the only person in the orchestra pit, escaped with little injury and she was probably one of the last to race from the auditorium into the lobby.

Strange and vivid descriptions of scenes and happenings preceding and following the theater disaster were being told.

At the top of the Wickens Furniture store adjoining, fell upon the roof of the State building, the structure began to buckle with a terrifying cracking sound. It was this advance warning that enabled the greater part of the audience to rush into the lobby before the auditorium was buried under the roof. More than forty persons crowded against one side of the lobby as the floor about them gave way.

"We had just reached the entrance to the lobby when there was a mighty swish of air and the walls shook, said one of those who escaped. "Pushing two children before me, I fell into a stairway. When I got up it was to view a heart-rending scene. Bodies of inmates of apartments overhead came crashing through the ceiling and tumbled to the floor, together with tons of brick and plaster. Two women were buried up to their waists exposing the room just as the occupant a few feet from me. A piteous 'please help' came in a child's voice from just inside the auditorium but help was out of the question. It was necessary to chop Mrs. Marie Evay, ticket seller, out of the booth. She was uninjured.

Mayor George Hoffman and Arthur Garfield Hays estimated the property damage at $25,000,000, while the Red Cross estimated it at $30,000,000. About 15 per cent of the city's population of 47,000, or a little over 7,000 persons, are homeless tonight, they said.

One hundred and twenty-five city blocks or about 25 per cent of the city's residences were damaged, most of them beyond repair.

Of all the business buildings that line Lorain's main long main street, Broadway, only two, the postoffice and a four-story ladies' Club building escaped without damage.

Due to the confusion and darkness after the storm last night many wild and exaggerated reports were current as to the number of dead and injured.

As near as could be checked today the above figures are authentic at this time. The Red Cross and the coroners' office, however, said that it will be several days before any accurate count of the dead and injured can be made. Work is still being carried on in the outlying residential district and the total may change most any time.

The driving wind ripped and tore everything in its path as it roared down this street leveling most of the brick buildings at the second floor. Frame structures, filling stations and other small buildings were entirely demolished and the wreckage strewn for blocks.

The 85-miles-an-hour wind blew street cars from their tracks, turned over and hurled automobiles to the curb, bent and twisted around telephone poles like wire, snapped off wooden poles at the ground and hurled them across the streets and onto building roofs.

The 200-foot building housing the Cedar Point pier was lifted and hurled nearly 60 feet into Sandusky Bay. The Yacht Club was torn and twisted into a mass of wreckage seriously injuring City Manager Sadler.

A Cedar Point auto ferry was just leaving its pier when the storm struck. The gas boat Columbus, towing the barge, was blown against the pier where it sank. Passengers aboard were thrown into the heavy seas but by the heroic efforts of those ashore were rescued and sent to the Good Samaritan Hospital where they were later discharged.

Property damage was estimated between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000.

Witnesses who saw the storm approaching said it was a funnel or double funnel shaped black whirling cloud.

From Sandusky the tornado belched torrents of rain, dipping about 15 miles southeast and then came north again striking Lorain almost exactly at the west corporation line of the city.

Then the tornado seemed to divide part of it going almost north and south down the entire length of Broadway and the other part striking the residential districts on the west and east sides of the city.

But few homes in its path escaped from its ravishing embrace. Beautiful mansions looked as if some giant hand had taken them between his hands and crushed them. Others were blown over on the side; some lost either the side or the front walls exposing the rooms just as the occupants had left them when they ran out doors.

Educator's Wife Dead.

Cleveland, June 30.—Mrs. Charles S. Howe, wife of the president of the Case School of Applied Science, died here after two months' illness. She had lived in Cleveland 30 years.

DEMOCRATS FINALLY ADOPT PARTY PLATFORM SATURDAY

New York, June 30.—By the narrow margin of one vote, the majority report on the klan issue was adopted at an early hour Sunday by the Democratic national convention.

Votes were changed and challenged, accusations hurled and denied, and in the end the convention voted down a plank for its 1924 platform that would specifically have denounced the klan by name by the total of 542 3-20 to 541 3-20.

William J. Bryan, Senator Owen of Oklahoma and Ed H. Moore of Ohio took leading parts in the klan controversy on the floor of the convention. The latter made an appeal for adoption of the minority report.

The majority report does not mention the klan by name in its denunciation of organizations that seek to curb religious liberty. The minority report specifically mentioned the klan.

The league of nations plank as proposed by Newton D. Baker of Ohio went down to crushing defeat. Instead the convention adopted the resolutions committee's plan, proposing a referendum on the question of American entry into the world league. A synopsis of the platform adopted follows:

Honest Government—"We pledge the Democratic party to drive from public place all who make barter of our national power, its resources or the administration of its laws; to punish those guilty of these offenses."

Tariff—"We denounce the Republican tariff laws which are written in great part in aid of monopolies, and thus prevent that reasonable exchange of commodities which would enable foreign countries to buy our surplus agricultural and manufactured products with resultant benefit to the toilers and producers of America. We declare our party's position to be in favor of a tax on commodities entering the customs house that will promote effective competition, protect against monopoly and at the same time produce a fair revenue to support the government."

Taxation—"After having increased taxation and the cost of living by $2,000,000,000, under the Fordney-McCumber tariff, all that the Republican party could suggest in the way of relief was a cut of $300,000,000 in direct taxes; and that was to be given principally to those with the largest incomes. We favor a graduated tax upon incomes, so adjusted as to lay the burdens of government upon the taxpayers in proportion to the benefits they enjoy and their ability to pay. We denounce the Mellon plan as a device to relieve multi-millionaires at the expense of other taxpayers, and we accept the issue of taxation tendered by President Coolidge."

Relief For Farmers.

Agriculture—"We pledge ourselves to adopt an international policy of such co-operation, by direct official means, as will re-establish the farmers' export market by restoring the industrial balance in Europe; to adjust the tariff; to readjust and lower rail and water rates; to bring about the early completion of internal waterway systems for transportation, and to develop our water powers for cheaper fertilizer for use on our farms; to secure for the farmer credits suitable for his needs; to stimulate the co-operative marketing movement and to establish an export marketing corporation or commission in order that the exportable surplus may not establish the price of the whole crop."

Railroads—"Railroad freight rates should be so readjusted as to give the bulky, basic, low-priced commodities, such as agricultural products, coal and ores, the lowest rates, placing the higher rates upon more valuable and less bulky manufacturing products. The Esch-Cummings act failed to reduce the cost of transportation and did not realize the promised improvement in service. The defect provisions of the act have proven unsatisfactory in settling difficulties between employer and employees. The Esch-Cummings act must be revised."

Muscle Shoals—"We demand prompt action by congress for the operation of Muscle Shoals to production, distribution and sale of commercial fertilizers to the farmers of the country and we oppose any legislation that limits the production of fertilizers at Muscle Shoals by limiting the amount of power to be used in their manufacture."

Credit and Currency—"We demand that the federal reserve system be so administered as to give stability to industry, commerce and finance, as was intended by the Democratic party, which gave the federal reserve system to the nation."

War Referendum—"We demand a strict and sweeping reduction of armaments by land and sea, so that there shall be no competitive military program or naval building. Until international agreements to this end have been made we advocate an army and navy adequate for our national safety. Our government should secure a joint agreement with all nations for a world agreement and also for a referendum of war, except in case of actual or threatened attack."

Prohibition—"The Republican administration has failed to enforce the prohibition law; is guilty of trafficking in liquor permits and has become the protector of violators of this law. The Democratic party pledges itself to respect and enforce the constitution and all laws."

League and Klan.

League of Nations—"The Democratic party renews its declaration of confidence in the idea of world peace, the league of nations and the world court of justice as together constituting the supreme effort of the statesmanship and religious conviction of our time to organize the world for peace. Therefore, we believe that, in the interest of permanent peace, and in order to establish a permanent foreign policy on these supreme questions, not subject to change with change of party administrations, it is necessary to lift this question out of party politics, and to that end to take the sense of the American people at a referendum election, advisory to the government, to be held officially under an act of congress, free from all other questions and candidacies, after ample time for full consideration and discussion throughout the country, upon the question, in substance, as follows: 'Shall the United States become a member of the league of nations upon such reservations or amendments to the covenant of the league as the president and the senate of the United States may agree upon?'"

The Klan—"The Democratic party reaffirms its adherence and devotion to those cardinal principles contained in the constitution and the precepts upon which our government is founded, that congress shall make no laws respecting the establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press, or the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the government for a redress of grievances, that the church and the state shall be and remain separate, and that no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office of public trust under the United States. These principles we pledge ourselves ever to defend and maintain. We insist at all times upon obedience to the orderly processes of the law and deplore and condemn any effort to arouse religious or racial dissension."

Other planks favor the proposed child labor amendment, Philippine independence, civil service, conservation, good roads, popular elections, deep waterways, flood control and water transportation. A demand is made that national elections hereafter be kept free from the poison of excessive private contributions. "To this end, we favor reasonable means of publicity."

Happy thrift

HAPPY thrift doesn't mean doing without what you want. It means doing without what you thought was what you wanted—and found wasn't. It means doing without such mistakes before you mistake them.

The only insurance against buying wares you don't want is knowing wares advertised. You can depend upon happy thriftings, clothes, foods you see pictured and described where. They are what other folks want, buy and are thrifty about. Wide enjoyment lowers their prices. Thrift again. And they serve to the very limit of their claims.

When you keep an eye on advertisements, you save right. You buy what you think you buy.

HUFFORD-OLCOTT NUPPIALS IN TROY

Beautiful in its appointments was the June wedding in the First Presbyterian Church at Troy, O., at 9:45 Saturday morning when Miss Ruth Hufford, daughter of Joseph K. Hufford, of Troy, and Charles Olcott, son of Mrs. Lois T. Olcott of Xenia, plighted their troth. The double ring service, recited impressively by Rev. I. L. Dungan, was witnessed by an assemblage of relatives and friends.

Members of the Westminster guild, of which organization the bride is an active member, were responsible for the lovely floral setting. The choir rail was banked with trailing vines and honeysuckle, tall baskets filled with June lilies near the torches, and daisies and pink roses at either side of the pulpit and baskets of daisies in the windows completed the artistic arrangement.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. L. L. Schuh at the organ played "At Dawning" by Cadman and "Oh Promise Me," by DeKoven. As the wedding march from Lohengrin announced the entrance of the bridal party Rev. Mr. Dungan advanced to the altar to await their coming. The four ushers, Messrs. Charles Gibson, Edward Ross, George Carey of Los Angeles and John Olcott of Xenia, brother of the bridegroom, led the way to the altar.

The bride, who walked with the bridegroom, was attractive in her traveling costume, a three-piece suit of airdale brocade crepe, the blouse being of pin tucked crepe de chine. Her hat was an airdale felt, poke shape, and trimmed with burnt goose feathers and narrow velvet bands of the same shade. She wore an airdale nouffon neckpiece and gloves and hose to match. Pink rosebuds and wansonia, worn corsage, added a finishing touch of color to the outfit. During the service and the exchanging of the vows Mrs. Schuh played nuptial music softly.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the bride's home on East Main Street to forty, including the immediate relatives and out of town guests. Dorothy Perkins roses formed the table decorations and roses and June lilies were artistically placed about the rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Olcott left for Lake Wawasee, Indiana, for a week's outing and after July 7 they will be at home to their friends at 317 East Main Street, Troy.

Mrs. Olcott is a graduate of the Troy high school class of 1917. She attended Wooster College for two years and since that time has been teaching in Elizabeth centralized and Troy schools. By her charming manner she has gathered about her a large circle of admiring friends.

Mr. Olcott finished his school in the East High School of Columbus. He came to Troy about four years ago and is now employed as purchasing agent of the Hobart Brothers company.

James present from out of the city were Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Trader, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Trader, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nybladh, Joseph Jones and daughter, Helen, Mrs. Maud Stark, Mrs. Lois T. Olcott and son John, Mrs. Jessie Lowman and son John of Xenia, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Tannon, Mrs. DeWitt Saunders and son Teddy Bobs of Dayton; Mrs. Kintie Rakestraw and daughter Ruth of Lima; Miss Vera Dunaway of Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Geo. Carey of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Claude aGruder and Mrs. Nora Gardner of Clayton.

XENIANS ATTEND DAYTON MUSICAL
A company of Xenia people motored to Dayton Sunday evening to hear the Grace Westminister Choir in a recital at the home of Mrs. H. E. Talbott. The musicale, a private affair, attended by about thirty guests, was given on the spacious Talbott lawn. The choir was placed at the crest of the hill on the lawn, and the guests were seated at the base of the hill, the arrangement effecting a beautiful scene.

The Xenia party was composed of Mrs. J. D. Steele, the Misses Florence and Margaret Steele, Miss Stella Bishop, Mrs. Alice Ruthrauff and Mr. Mrs. James Wilson III.

SURPRISE HELD ON EIGHTY-SIXTH BIRTHDAY
A group of relatives and friends of Mr. D. S. Harner met at his home on Fairground Road, Friday evening, to remind him of his eighty-sixth birthday.

A social time was enjoyed and later in the evening, refreshments of ice cream, cake and ice tea were served. Those enjoying the occasion were, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Harner, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Laurens and daughter, Freda; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph James, Mr. and Mrs. Byford James, and son Warren; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harner, Mr. and Mrs. Williams Laurens and family.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Heitz of Dayton, spent the week end with Mrs. Heitz' mother, Mrs. B. Schlesinger, of South Detroit Street.

Mrs. William Harrison of West Main Street, accompanied by her brother Mr. Ralph Lucas left Saturday morning for Russell's Point where they will spend a week.

Miss Nettie Manor, matron at the Children's Home in Dayton, spent Sunday with her sister and niece, Mrs. Katherine Bankerd and Miss Mary Bankerd of this city.

Elizabeth Huston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Huston of West Third Street, dislocated her right ankle when she fell at her home Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Shellhaas and children, and Miss Carrie Pearson, of West Milton who have been visiting relatives in Yellow Springs, returned home Saturday.

Mr. B. Friedman of the Fairground Road, is ill with grip.

Mitzi is making a landscape more charming by lending herself to the picture. She wears a graceful coat of white silk alpaca. It covers her skirt entirely. It has gay colored turn-back collars and cuffs of printed silk. And that's not all! Watch this costume—it's tricky.

Which is the coat lining and which is blouse? One hardly knows because the material is the same. The skirt is white silk alpaca like the coat. The figure in the background wishes he knew the wearer. He's wondering * * * and so is Mitzi.

Mitzi is not a woman without resource. And she always takes chances, providing they are worth it. She thinks he is. That's why she glances backward as she leaves her coat on the bench and saunters carelessly away.

It worked. Mitzi has never known fashions to fail her. It is so obviously hers, yet of course he says, "Beg pardon, but isn't this yours?" The matching material proves it beyond a doubt, yet Mitzi feels she must reply a length * * * and he is such a nice young man.

THE "REVIEW OF REVIEWS" MAGAZINE FOR JULY TELLS OF VIEW OF OUR POLITICAL PARTIES

In the United States, the two major parties have for a long time been rival organizations that have been held together quite as much by legalized political machinery of an elaborate character as by opposed convictions about public affairs or by mutual antagonism. The Republican party has been more homogeneous than the Democratic. Historically the Republicans have been strongly identified with the western movement, and with the development of the country upon nationalistic lines and principles. Loyalty to the traditions of the Republican party as they have come down through families has had much to do with the maintenance of Republicanism. This sentiment has nothing to do with the machinery of the party, which is operated by politicians and which constitutes its official organization. There is also a somewhat similar tradition of Democracy that holds many minds through a persistent predilection for one side of the other in earlier controversies—a continuing sentiment that gives us Jeffersonian Democrats and Jacksonian Democrats, this feeling having something to do with the present-day party loyalties of many people who know little and care less about the actual controversies of the first half-century of a Republic that has been making political history for almost three such half-centuries.

Apart from these rather thin and meaningless traditions, which orators try to distinguish as something substantial in the way of a political creed, the Democratic party has now for more than half a century in its practical operations been a coalition of four principal opposition elements, not to mention some minor ones. Chief of the four elements has been the Solid South, which was rendered solid by virtue of the Fifteenth Amendment that enfranchised millions of untrained negroes immediately after the abolition of slavery. In earlier periods, these Southern people had been Whigs as well as Democrats, and they were no more sectionally Jeffersonian than was the North. It was a practical situation following the Civil War, that made the states of the recent Confederacy feel the need of acting together in national matters; and since they could not support the party that had enfranchised the negroes, they were obliged to adopt the Democratic party with a view to dominating it in so far as their own sectional necessities were concerned. The most strictly local of the Democratic factors was Tammany Hall, an organization that for its own purposes secured control of the Democratic machine in New York City, and which gradually acquired command of the Democratic party of the Empire State.

CONGRESS ADJOURNED UNTIL DECEMBER

The adjournment of Congress on June 7, just three days before the opening of the Republican National Convention at Cleveland, was in most respects a fortunate thing. A presidential campaign deserves undivided attention in so far as public issues are concerned. With the long session of Congress ended, the record at Washington quite properly forms a part of the case that goes before the country for the verdict at the polls in November. It has been one of the stormiest seasons that the political atmosphere of Washington has known in many years. When President Harding set out upon his long and fateful speech-making tour, on June 20 of 1923—just twelve months ago—the Republican party seemed to be not only capable and efficient in its exercise of power but also reasonably harmonious. It had carried the election of 1920 by majorities so vast and decisive as to leave no question about the country's sentiments. Some of President Harding's appointments were not liked by people of fastidious tastes and critical judgments, but even in those cases the Senate was ready to confirm and everybody was inclined to hope for the best. No president has ever been more generously treated and none has ever been made more conscious of the pervasive kindness and good will of his fellow citizens, regardless of party, than Warren G. Harding.

The president had entered upon his great "swing around the circle," which was to take him as far as Alaska to the northward and the Panama Canal Zone to the southward, while the Porto Ricans were preparing to give him their most loyal welcome and New York City had planned for an enthusiastic reception on his return to continental America. His prepared addresses and shorter speeches were arranged to cover all the larger questions of national concern. His Cabinet was a unit in supporting him and in looking forward to his nomination for another term.

LILACS IN THE ROOMING HOUSE DISTRICT

Down where the houses have faded and commerce has crept in to stay, And the last of the home-loving people have long ago journeyed away, As if in defiance of traffic, by a dwelling of so many rooms, In the dust and the noise of the city a lovely old lilac tree blooms. None remembers the lady who loved it and planted it there by the door, When that house was a home for her children in an age to be known never more; None remembers the garden of roses that, bloomed those earlier days, All have fled from that rooming house district and only the lilac tree stays. The house has grown ugly and bitter, It is seldom love smiles in the hall, The keeper now barters for dollars the welcome she gives those who call, The old fashioned charm has long vanished, for commerce has scourged it away, But with all its old-fashioned splendor that lilac tree blossoms today. What memories cluster around it, profuse as the blooms on each bough— The last touch of beauty which lingers where commerce is trafficking now! The men and the women who loved it to quieter places have gone, But shut in by the merciless city that lilac tree still blossoms on.

MISS OLIVE HUSTON NAMED PRESIDENT OF DELTA THETA TAU

Miss Olive Huston, of North Detroit Street, this city, president of the Dayton chapter of Delta Theta Tau Sorority, was elected grand president of the sorority at the final session of the national convention Saturday afternoon, at the Miami Hotel Dayton. Other officers elected to serve the ensuing year are Doris Warner, Sidney, grand vice president; Leona Kite, Urbana, grand secretary; Teresa Kraus, Mishawaka, Ind., grand treasurer; Laura Lee Whitesell, Richmond, Ind., re-elected grand inspector; Marie Karle, Indianapolis, grand editor.

Miss Huston became affiliated with the Dayton chapter, at the time of becoming a member of the faculty of the Dayton public schools. She has served as president of the Dayton chapter for several weeks, and is the second young woman from this city to hold that office. Miss Mildred Greisinger, formerly of Xenia, being Dayton president before moving to Chicago.

The concluding program of the convention was held Saturday night, when more than 200 couples attended the farewell dance at the Greystone ball room. At the ball, Miss Huston was presented with the pearl sorority pin, signifying her office, by the body of delegates. Dancing began immediately after the presentation of the pin. Business sessions of the convention were held on the roof of the Hotel Miami. The sorority is an organization for the promotion of welfare work and organized twenty-one years ago. Dayton convention was the thirteenth annual affair of the organization. More than fifty chapters from Washington State to Florida, attended the sessions. Columbus was chosen as the meeting place for the 1925 convention.

Inexpensive Salad Dressing: "Mix together in the upper part of a double boiler two tablespoons of sugar, one tablespoon of flour, one beaten egg, one cup of sweet milk, one and one-half teaspoons of dry mustard, one small teaspoon of salt, and one small piece of butter. Place the pot over the fire and when this mixture is well heated (over boiling water) stir in one-third of a cup of vinegar. Continue to cook till thick, then remove from range and beat smooth with an egg beater. Cool and chill before using. This is an excellent dressing for vegetable salads." (Contributed by "A Friend.")

Currant Dumpling: "Two cups of bread crumbs, two cups of ripe currants, one cup of raisins, a small piece of suet chopped, two tablespoons of sugar, one tablespoon each of ground cinnamon, allspice, and soda, one-half teaspoon of salt, and enough flour to bind the mixture together. Moisten the bread crumbs in a little hot water, then add all the other ingredients in the order mentioned. Either steam for three hours in a regular steamer, or tie the mixture in a piece of clean white cloth, place it on a saucer in a pot containing boiling water, and let the water boil steadily for two hours, adding more water as necessary. Serve with a sweet sauce, or with milk and sugar, or just plain." (Contributed by Column Reader.)

Note: Dried currants may be substituted for the fresh in this recipe. Three or four tablespoons of flour will be sufficient to bind together. The dumpling may also be steamed in a buttered baking powder can like any steamed pudding, which has a tightly-fitting cover tied on, and which is weighted down in enough boiling

HEAT SPEEDS UP WHISKER GROWTH BARBERS DECLARE

Did you ever wonder why men's whiskers grow faster during the summer than during the winter? The mystery has been solved. Barbers say that heat has the greatest influence on the growth of whiskers as it opens the pores of the face as a result of perspiration and stimulates their growth. Therefore anyone who becomes annoyed at having to shave sometimes twice a day should journey to a colder climate for the summer.

Today's Talks

RAMONA BRADY

This week my friend and associate, Ramona Brady, will leave my business.

For five years she has worked with me and we have tried to make the world just a little happier and more cheerful, through the scores of features which we have distributed to hundreds of newspapers half way round the world. She would like to stay forever in this business—but she had a bigger job offered her, and she accepted. She has worked as few humans have worked, long and late—never complaining, no matter how trying the task, no matter how tired the body. I wouldn't have let her go had I, too, not agreed that her new job—that of building a home—was even vaster and more important than that of building a business. But before she leaves I would like to tell that part of the world that reads these little Talks just how fine and true she is, and how much they owe to her beauty of character and unusual gifts.

Every week she has edited these brief Talks and to her criticism and inspiration I owe more than I can express. I have kept them going largely because she believed in me and in their possibility for good.

In business, Ramona Brady has proved that woman can attain high position and influence and still flood that business with gentleness and refinement and magnet to her the trust, respect, admiration and love of her associates.

Great in many ways, as a friend she has proved greatest. And that's what makes her going less sad, for across the miles that separate we shall try to live up to the thing she planted so well with us. Her ideals will flower.

We can work better and braver with you in the world anyway, Ramona Brady!

FOUR DAY PROGRAM ARRANGED AT WHITE CHAPEL THIS WEEK

A four-day social and spiritual program will be held this week at the White Chapel, M. E. Church, it is announced by the Rev. C. N. Smith, pastor.

The program will open Wednesday, evening at 8 o'clock when "Community Night" will be observed. A play, "Bargain Day at Bloomfield's" will be presented by local talent, after which refreshments will be served in the basement. Music will be furnished by the Spring Hill orchestra.

A "Public School Night," program will be held Thursday night at 8 o'clock. Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of Cedarville College will give an address. Special music will feature the program. The committee in charge is composed of Delmer Thomas, A. P. Ketter, and Walter Stern.

Friday night will be "Klan Night" at the Church. The Rev. A. J. Furstenberger, pastor of the Friends Church, Xenia, will give an address on "The Relationship of the Klan to the Church." The committee in charge consists of the Rev. E. W. Middleton, Dr. Leroy Haines and Delbert Ketter. Refreshments will be served on the Church lawn.

An all-day service will be held Sunday, July 6, featuring a home-coming and basket dinner. The morning service will be held at 11 o'clock, with a sermon by the Rev. J. F. Gordon. The afternoon service will be held at 2:30 o'clock, when the Rev. W. H. Tilford, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Xenia, will give an address on the subject "How I Can Help My Church."

The Rev. G. A. Scott pastor of the First M. E. Church, Xenia, will preach at the evening service at 8 o'clock on "The Future of the Country Church."

XENIA PEOPLE IN TORNADO PATH ESCAPE INJURY WHEN HOME S DEMOLISHED BY WIND

Mrs. James E. Tierney, of Lorain, formerly Miss Margaret Poland of this city and her two children escaped injury when their home was completely destroyed during Saturday evening's northern Ohio tornado and wind storm.

Word received by relatives here indicated that one child was slightly cut by glass, but was not seriously hurt. Their home was destroyed with a subsequent loss to contents. Mr. Tierney was not home at the time of the storm and was also uninjured.

Following word received here by Mrs. Tierney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Poland of West Main St., Mrs. Poland and her son, Charles Poland, Dayton, motored to Lorain to return Mrs. Tierney and children to this city. Mr. Tierney telephoned his brother John Tierney, in Columbus, late Saturday night of the safety of his family and John Tierney called the Xenia relatives at 2 o'clock Sunday morning.

The party was expected back from Lorain Monday. Mr. Tierney is a salesman for the Buick Sales Agency in Lorain.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Murphy, North King Street, received word that the lumber yard in Lorain operated by Mr. Murphy's brother, Ivan Murphy, was not damaged by the storm. Mr. Murphy was in Urbana at the time of the storm. His residence also escaped damage.

Mrs. Harry Hilliard, R. R. 6, feared for the safety of relatives living in Sandusky and dispatches carried the name of a distant relative among the injured. Mrs. Hilliard's stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Spiegel, her half sister, Mrs. Ed Ward and her half brother, John, Orville, Tom and Leroy Crapsey, all lived in the storm area. Harry Spiegel, mentioned among the injured, is a brother of her stepfather.

FARM PROGRESS

"DAD'S HELPERS" IN INTERESTING MEET AT CEDARVILLE

The fourth meeting of the "Dad's Helpers," Pig Club of Cedarville Township was held Thursday afternoon, June 26.

A general discussion was led by the leader on "The Advantages and Disadvantages of Hogging Down Corn," and also "Kinds of Forage Crops and their Value."

Malcolm Finney spoke on "Mineral Feeds and their Use in Hog Feeding" and Harold Dobbins on "Importance of Water and Best Ways to Provide it for Hogs."

A general review on feeds and feeding practices for growing hogs was led by the leader. After the meeting delicious refreshments of ice cream, strawberries and cookies were served by the committee, John Finney and John F. Dowler leader.

The next meeting will be held July 9, to discuss the question of sanitation and disease control among swine.

FARM MEETINGS HELD

Demonstrations on the use of the hog capsule in ridding hogs of internal parasites were held at the farm of George Glass, Ross Twp., Thursday evening and Howard Norris, Sugar Creek Twp., Friday afternoon.

Spring pigs and undersized fall pigs were given the treatment on both farms and a discussion of swine parasites was held.

Good results have followed these demonstrations, according to County Agent Ford S. Prince, and several farmers have reported that their hogs are doing much better since the treatment.

The secret of success in the use of worm capsules, according to Mr. Prince, is to starve the hogs for at least twenty-four hours before and eighteen hours after treatment, thus giving the drugs a chance to do their work without the interference of a full digestive tract.

CALF CLUB MEETS

The Greene County Dairy Calf Club met in the Farm Bureau office Friday afternoon for a short meeting under the leadership of E. E. Finney and C. J. Mellinger.

After discussing dairy types, the club went to the home of T. A. Wolf, on the Burlington Pike, where a judging demonstration of Holstein cattle was given.

The club is in training for team competition as three of the best dairy cattle judges among them will be sent to the Ohio State Fair to compete with teams from other counties in Ohio.

The elimination contest will be held at the Greene County Fair, at which time the boys and girls will exhibit their purebred dairy calves.

SNAP SHOTS

Russian soviet government has notified Switzerland, as surveyor of the International Postal union, that it wishes to join that organization.

Four men were wounded when bullets from the coast guard cutter Arcata, seeking rum smugglers, pierced the gasoline tank of their motorboat in Mutiny bay, north of Seattle, Wash.

Arkansas became the first state to ratify the proposed child labor amendment to the Federal constitution when the senate approved the measure 15 to 13. The house had previously voted to ratify the amendment.

CHIEF FIGURES IN NEWS OF THE DAY.

Below: HORACE A. GREER & WILLIAM H. REYNOLDS

Horace A. Greer, former chauffeur for Mabel Normand, motion picture actress, has been acquitted in Los Angeles for shooting Courland S. Dines in a New Year's Eve party attended by the actress. The lovely Mrs. Ida Symington, one of New York's most charming hostesses, has been sued for divorce by Thomas H. Symington, multi-millionaire clubman, and has countered with a suit for $200,000 a year alimony. William H. Reynolds, Mayor of Long Beach, L. I., one of the famous watering places in the East, has been convicted of grand larceny and misuse of the resort's funds. Mrs. Loranda Piccio, Chicago heiress and wife of General Pierre Piccio, Italian "ace" and aviation adviser of the Government, has filed suit for divorce in Paris, demanding the custody of her children and the return of jewels she alleges her husband has taken from her.

XENIA WOMEN ARE HOME FROM MEET OF NO-TOBACCO LEAGUE

Mrs. Carrie L. Flatter, Mrs. Mattie Smith, Mrs. W. O. Custis and Mrs. M. R. Snodgrass of the Greene County W. C. T. U. and the No-Tobacco League, have returned from Winona Lake, Ind., where they attended the national convention of the No-Tobacco League last Thursday and Friday. The convention was held Thursday afternoon and evening and all-day Friday. Mrs. Flatter addressed the convention Friday evening.

One of the main features of the convention was an oratorical contest Thursday evening between young men and women, on the effect of tobacco on the human body. The winner of the contest was presented twenty-five dollars and each of the other contestants was given a book.

The officers for the coming year chosen at the session are: J. Knox Montgomery, New Concord, O., president; Mrs. Carrie L. Flatter, Yellow Springs, vice-president; Charles L. Filmore, Indianapolis, Ind., corresponding secretary; Edward W. Clark, Indianapolis, treasurer; L. O. Davis, Chicago, recording secretary.

Between 400 and 500 pupils of the Winona Lake Normal School attended the sessions in a body.

Crowded Off the Road.

Akron, O., June 30.—Irene Noinette, 18, of Ravenna, was killed and Helen Joy, 18, of Akron, was injured when the automobile in which they were driving from Akron to Youngstown was crowded off the road two miles south of Ravenna. The driver of the car which crowded them off the road failed to stop.

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture

BERNARD
MACADAM

There was at one time a general fear among women that by taking exercises they would acquire masculine outlines, but this fear was grounded in the complete ignorance of the facts of exercise and its results which was almost universal until recent years. If there are still a few who entertain this fear of masculine tendencies growing out of the development of the muscular system let me say positively that there can be no such result, for the muscles of a woman do not take on the same rugged form, even though just as powerful as those of a man. Furthermore, a woman always carries a little more adipose tissue, rounding and smoothing off all of the contours of the body.

Exercises for women, far from making them masculine, will only make them more womanly in outline and contour. It is the undeveloped female, emaciated and shapeless, who most resembles the undeveloped masculine form.

Development and health bring out womanly qualities, thus giving her the graceful outlines which mark her sex. Instead of making her figure coarse and crude, exercise will give her an exquisite contour of every part, and no better proof of this need be found than in works of art which have come down to us from the ancient Greeks, modeled to perpetuate the types of athletic womanhood trained in the gymnasium of that far-away and classic age. And to-day it is the athletic girl, and only she who serves as the ideal of the modern sculptor.

A woman's muscles will never become corded and knotted. Will never stick out like "billiard balls" from her forearms and shoulders, as some critics of physical training for women have suggested, in their ignorance. On the contrary, exercise will develop elasticity and strength in muscles of a smoothly flowing formation giving that character and firmness to one's flesh without which grace and real beauty are impossible.

Light exercises are regarded as best for attaining this condition, exercises that while strengthening all the muscles, keep them flexible.

When The Fish Aren't Biting--

Old-time anglers prepare for a change of luck by changing their bait.

When employers aren't hiring many men—and you can't get the position you want—new methods of going after work will often bring success.

The best way to "bait" employers that we know about is to drop a few "lines" in the Situations Wanted column of the Evening Gazette and Morning Republican—try it and watch your luck change!

When personal application fails to put you in touch with the "men higher up" who might be interested in your abilities, talk to them direct through a truthful, well-told ad in the Evening Gazette and Morning Republican Situations Wanted Columns tomorrow.

You haven't tried the best way to find the work you want until you have let one of these little ads carry your message to the employers of Xenia.

Stop at the Evening Gazette and Morning Republican office tomorrow and a trained ad writer will help you with your ad. The cost is trifling.

Who'll Bell The Cat?

One of the old fables tells how all the mice held a meeting one day and decided their common enemy, the cat, would have to be belled for their safety—so that they would always be warned of its stealthy approach.

But when the question was raised as to who would bell the cat—every little mouse was silent.

Of course this fable was originated before a perfect classified advertising medium had been developed. If the Gazette-Republican A-B-C Classified Section had been known, the fable would have gone on to tell how easily the mice found a dog who specialized as a cat "beller."

Nowadays to ask in doubting tones who will do a certain thing—savors of the ridiculous.

People turn—for the common safety of their pocketbooks—to the A-B-C Classified Section where specialists of all kinds offer their services.

You, too, will find safety in these economical and profitable offers.

ATHLETICS TO CHANGE NAME; BEAT LAGONDAS

The East Side Athletics returned to the winning column Sunday, by chalking up a victory over the Lagonda A. C. of Springfield by a score of 10 to 2, at Dickerson Park.

With one out in the first inning, the locals scored two runs. Cunningham singled and Anderson knocked a home run into left field. The colored lads also added another tally in the third on a walk, two singles and a sacrifice fly, giving them a 3 to 0 lead at the end of the third round.

Rickman's lads, scoring victory, made another marker in the fourth and a trio of runs in the sixth and seventh, which gave them a total of ten runs.

Lewis, the local artist, pitched masterful all throughout, holding the losers to a meager hits. He fanned eleven batters, which one, and was given good play.

Anderson, the circuit clown, well, each hit and made for hearing on or after September 2nd, 1924.

CHAUTAUQUA WILL OFFER TWO PLAYS ON PROGRAM HERE

Dramatic, musical and lecture events of real headline caliber are included in the chautauqua program to be given in Xenia, July 23 to July 29, inclusive.

The Chautauqua's first advance man, T. C. Siddall, has just completed the first distribution of advertising and has placed with the local chautauqua committee season tickets for the annual event.

Patrons of the annual assembly will be interested to know that this year two plays are to be offered. The first is "Give and Take," and the second comedy is "The Meanest Man in the World," in which George M. Johnson starred in the original production at the Hudson Theater, New York City.

A novelty is the "Melody Land" performance to be offered by the Hollywood Harpists. Another interesting diversion is "An Evening in Hawaii," in which Joseph Vierra and associate Hawaiian artists offer a spectacular program amid unique stage settings and with unusual lighting effects.

For the music lover, will be Miss Elsie Baker, America's great contralto and Victor artist. She is scheduled for chautauqua's sixth night.

Among the individual performers of the week are Miss Evelyn Hansen in a lecture-demonstration on dress, with living models; Miss Jane Goude, popular entertainer; E. R. Root, using 10,000 bees in a lecture-demonstration; Thomas B. McGregor, for eight years attorney general of Kentucky, and Judge George D. Alden of Boston.

The Duval Brothers, with a program of magic, music and rag pictures, will give a special children's program toward chautauqua's close. Junior Town will be featured, and a new diversion will be offered the boys and girls in the form of bird, animal and flower cut-outs.

TOO MUCH IS SPENT ON NON-ESSENTIALS MINSTER DECLARE

The pleasure-seeking ways of American and the luxuries they enjoy were dwelt upon by the Rev. J. P. Lytle, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, who addressed the union meeting of Xenia churches, at Trinity M. E. Church, Sunday night.

The Rev. Mr. Lytle contrasted the expenditure of money for the moving pictures, candy and other luxuries with that spent on the church, schools and missions, giving figures to bring out his points. "We neglect the essential things and our life is made up of the non-essentials," was the tone of the pastor's talk. The topic of the sermon was "Love Not The World."

The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Charles Drees, who recently returned after fifty years' mission work in South America. The Rev. Charles P. Proudfit, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian Church read the Scripture of the evening. The choir gave two special numbers. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. G. A. Scott of the First M. E. Church.

The union services next Sunday will be held in the First Presbyterian Church.

XVIII—THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME.

AFTER we really got started shooting the picture things were nicer than ever. Sylvia and I went back and forth to the studio together, days when they shot scenes that she was in, and Lawrence French often came over to Fort Lee, where we were working, and brought us home. Spring nights it would be wonderful, coming across the Hudson on the ferry.

VIOLET DARE

The Atlantic fleet was anchored in the river for a while, and I never could look down on that long line of beautiful ships, with their lights twinkling and their searchlights reaching out from one to another, without having the sight just grip my heart.

The picture went awfully well; I think one reason was because the people in the cast—there were only ten of us—were such good friends. This old character woman who played my mother was a dear, and every one was so kind to me and helped me so much because I was new at the game.

One awfully hot afternoon, when they were shooting some scenes that I wasn't in, I went over to a corner of the studio that the glare of the lights didn't reach—you've no idea how terrible the heat from them is on a warm day—and curled up on a big couch that we'd been using the day before. I was awfully sleepy, and I thought I'd take a nap so that I'd look rested when they wanted me later. But I'd just begun to doze off when the sound of men's voices waked me.

"I know she's good—but you're a fool to do it, John," I heard our director, Mr. Haynes, say. "The chance is that she'll walk away with the picture if you let her have that scene; it's the biggest one in the whole thing. And this is your show, you know—the best opportunity you've ever had. She'll have plenty more; this one release will absolutely make her as it is. Don't be a fool."

"I've no intention of being one," I heard John Seward answer. "But I've said from the very start that this picture was going to be handled so that the most would be made of the story. I've been thinking that scene over ever since we first realized that Dorothy was going to develop so amazingly. She's capable of playing that scene in a way that will lift an audience right out of its seats. If we hold her part down and play mine up, the scene will be big, of course—but it won't touch the effect we'll get if that scene is given to her."

They argued and argued, and I just sat there.

Well, they argued and argued about it, and I just sat there, all huddled up on the davenport, with some scenery between me and them. I knew that I was eavesdropping, but I couldn't help it. And, oh, I was so excited! Finally they went away, and I crawled out and went over to where the character woman was knitting a sweater for her daughter's little boy.

"The heat's too much for you, young lady," she said, after taking one long look at me. I suppose my face was awfully white, but it certainly wasn't from the heat. "You look faint—go over there and lie down."

"Oh, I don't want to!" I cried. I couldn't have even sat down right then, I felt so jumpy over what I'd just heard. "I think I'll go for a walk."

But I was only half-way to the door when Mr. Haynes came out of his little office and beckoned to me.
